CARNIVAL OF ATHLETICS

Elaborate Plans for the Pan-American Exposition.

World-Championship Events to Be Held at Buffalo Next Summer-A Superb Structure Capable of Accommodating Twenty-five Thousand People-Advice of an Expert.

One of the important features of the Pan-American Exposition, to be held at Buffalo during the summer of 1901, will be a magnificent athletic field, or race course, should make sport something ideal; some thing like it was in the early days of Greece. The carnival should have an edu Greece. The carnival should have an educational value on the youth of the country, as well as temporary spectacular-value. If strictly amateur, it can be a force in keeping forward the interests of clean sport in this country. It would be wise to improve the opportunity of giving the first big scoped affair of this kind in the country, by looking carefully after the personnel of a national committee of management to act with the exposition committee on sport not burdened with the details, but lending their names and the benefit of experience and acquaintance. Such men as Walter Camp and Charles H. Sherrill, of Yale; Casper Whitney and John Corbin, of New York; A. A. Stagg, of Chicago University, and a string of men who have gained prominence in inter-collegiate sport in this country, would add a vast lot of prestige to the exposition games, as well as a valuable lot of advice and help.

that the enclosure will not only be enormous in size, but will also be architecturally imposing. At the entrance there will be an ornamental building over 300 feet in length, aurmounted by two towers of imposing height and the entrance opening out on the arena will be over fifty feet in width. When this entrance is passed the grandeur of the building will be manifest, for the oval in the centre will be skirted by a quarter mile track and beyond the state of the same of the live of the live of the same of the live of ners of the events of the big inter-collegiate meet in New York in 1901 and the winners of the inter-collegiate meet in Chicago? I think it could be readily done. Then, the athletes from the two big Callfornia colleges have shown a readiness to undertake long trips. They should be invited. Buffalo heing midway between the distinctively New York and New England colleges and that of Chicago gives a chance for promoting sectional contests that will arouse interest.
